

Seven Habits of Highly Responsible Longfellow Students

1. We Set Goals

- Goals are the foundation for our responsible behavior and success in school
- Goals keep us focused on what is important and what is not

2. We Plan Our Time

- Plans make us responsible and help us meet our obligations
- We turn in our work in on time, study before a test, and use organization and planning to meet our important deadlines
- We use an assignment notebook to plan and manage our time

3. We Study Every Day

- We set aside time every day for homework and studying

4. We Take Notes in Class and Pay Attention

- We all strive to do our best and learn every day'
 - a. We take notes in class
 - b. We listen to teachers and staff members

5. We Have The Tools We Need

- We come to class every day prepared to learn
- We have the tools we need – notebooks, folders, pencils, calculator, etc. – and we treat our tools, and the tools of others, with respect

6. We Keep Our Commitments

- We honor commitments to ourselves and others by:
 - a. Doing assignments well
 - b. Completing assignments on time
 - c. Getting places on time
 - d. Doing our share

7. We Get Ready Ahead of Time

- We know that being late or being early doesn't just happen – it is our choice
- To be prepared we pack our backpacks, make our lunch, and decide what we are going to wear the next day – the night before
- We know that being prepared and being organized will start our day off on a positive note
